

Vatican II and the New Evangelization with Fr. Stefano Penna

Reflecting on the Fifty Years Since Vatican II

When Blessed John XXIII invited the Church to “throw open the windows” the Second Vatican Council responded with a renewed commitment to understanding Evangelization as an essential element of being the People of God in Communion. How our world has changed in the five decades since the Council gathered in Rome! Many see the openness of the Council as historically passé. Others may mourn a seemingly retrenchment in the Church of the new millennium. This evening will explore the rootedness of the call to a New Evangelization in the great act of the Holy Spirit that was Vatican II. How is the wisdom of the Council the foundation for new ways of proclaiming and being the Good News? Come and see!
